

Chapter 2

Concepts & Issues

Transforming today's highly capable Marine Expeditionary Forces to meet the challenges and uncertainties of the 21st Century requires a blending of our MAGTF concept with the new ideas emerging from advanced technology and the fast-changing military environment. New concepts require us to reconsider the manner in which we form MAGTFs and employ them. As we evolve to meet the challenges of a new era, we must explore new possibilities for the MAGTF's progressive adaptation to future realities.

